

Not far away, in a recycling bin near you...

Moobacca the Milk Jug

Faithful side-kick of Can Soda, Moobacca fights to recycle plastic containers that often are overlooked – like shampoo and detergent bottles.

Dark Tire

Leader of about 4.5 million tires that were recycled last year in South Carolina, Dark Tire plots to increase the ranks of his rolling legions.

Emperor Papertine

Papertine is the imperial ruler of an impressive variety of recyclable paper including magazines, cardboard, computer and office paper as well as telephone directories.

Oily One U-Know-Me

Oily One is the courageous leader of a growing number of do-it-yourself oil changers who are dedicated to protecting human health and the environment. His followers recycled more than 1.2 million gallons of used motor oil last year in South Carolina.

Can Soda

Daring pilot of the Centurion Fal-Can, Soda and his cronies can navigate themselves back onto store shelves in as little as six weeks after they're recycled.

Luke Sodabottle

Young and dashing, Sodabottle is skilled in the ways of recycling. He encourages everyone to recycle their plastic single-serve water and soft drink bottles when travelling to the far ends of the galaxy (or Myrtle Beach).

Queen Ima Bottle

This sparkling matriarch of the glass galaxy wisely rules three colorful provinces of glass bottles and jars: green, brown and clear.

C-Me-Recycle

This metal android was constructed from recycled steel including food and soup cans as well as appliances.

R-U-Recycling?

This lovable little battery robot is full of energy. But when his energy is gone, he must be recycled in South Carolina.
